

Possible New Jump Toward Philippines

Saipan, Hengyang Battles Mounting In Bitterness

By J. B. Krueger

General MacArthur's sector of the Pacific war stirred to new life and significance today with a three-play blow against Noemboor Island, possibly indicative of a new Allied jump toward the Philippines.

While the still undecided battles for Saipan and Hengyang mounted in bitterness, the 15x12 mile island lying in New Guinea's Geelvink bay caught two weekend bombings and a P-T boat shelling.

MacArthur's headquarters reported the second raid brought 150 aircraft with a 230-ton bomb load over Noemboor's three airdromes Saturday. The unusual weight of the attack suggested MacArthur could be preparing to leap 50 miles from Tak Island to Noemboor. Or he could be clearing the way for a jump farther west to New Guinea's northwest tip. Noemboor is 800 miles from the Philippines, 600 from Palau.

Elements of two marine and one infantry division narrowed to approximately 25 square miles the pocket into which Japanese on Saipan are being pushed. The Americans advanced from 500 yards to a mile along the front. On the east coast they were five and a half miles from the island's northern tip, which may become a Japanese Bataan. The bitter fighting in the forests and cave-pocked mountains already has cost the Japanese at least 6,015 killed and much cached war material.

Hard Street Fighting
The town of Garapan, scene of hard street fighting, came under heavy fire from artillery, naval guns and mortars. One correspondent pictured it as a mass of flame.

The Americans apparently were ready to wipe off the map to get at the Japanese who had made it a fortress.

Hengyang, afire and shuddering under the bombings of two enemy airforces, remained partially in Chinese hands. The key Hunan railroad city, vital to Japan's drive to clear China along the Hankow-Canton rail line, virtually was cut off from aid, Chungking reports indicated.

A Japanese force apparently swept around the city to LeiYang, 34 airline miles southeast, while other forces farther south worked up from Canton in multiple drives.

The objective was complete control of the railroad from Canton 1,000 miles north to Peiping. Firmly held, that line would seal off eastern China from Allied use.

In Burma, Japanese attempting a thrust at Allied-held Myitkyina airdrome were wiped out by American forces.

Can't Find Luftwaffe

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP)—The British radio today quoted a captured German officer:

"In Russia we were told that the Luftwaffe was in the west. In Normandy, we are told that the Luftwaffe is in the east."

BBC said the officer gave this as his reason for surrendering two days after his arrival from the Russian front. CBS heard the broadcast.

Takes Money From Soldier

Burville Todd, who resides northeast of Sedalia, was sentenced to four months in the county jail, and assessed costs in the case, this morning, by Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, on a petit larceny charge. Todd pleaded guilty to Judge Bente.

Todd was accused of taking twenty dollars out of the pocket of Private Cecil R. Howard, of the Sedalia Army Air Field, sometime after midnight Saturday, while the soldier was asleep near the Terminal Cab Co. Persons who saw Todd near the soldier called, the police and upon investigating learned of the robbery.

About twenty minutes later Todd was arrested at a local cafe and taken to police headquarters where he admitted taking the money.

Make Plans Rather Than Make Speeches

By Jack Bell
ALBANY, N. Y., July 3.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey indicated today he may travel within the next month to a conference with other Republican governors on presidential campaign plans.

Avoiding comment on national issues, the GOP nominee told a news conference today he doubted that he would make any speeches soon.

He said, however, that he had

ALBANY, N. Y., July 3.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey's mail since receiving the Republican presidential nomination has been voluminous and is arriving by the sackful, the governor said today.

"The mail is perfectly enormous," Dewey told reporters at a press conference. "There has been so many thousands of letters we haven't even made a count."

"I should like to be able to thank everybody personally for their good wishes. Since that is physically impossible, I would like to take this means of expressing my warm gratitude to the many thousands of people who have written and asking them to understand the impossibility of my personally answering each letter."

discussed the possibility of a meeting with the other 25 Republican governors, including Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, the vice presidential nominee.

Dewey said no definite plans for such a meeting had been made but that he talked it over informally with Gov. Earl Warren of California after Dewey's nomination at the Chicago Republican convention last week.

Personally, Dewey said, he would like to stay in Albany for the next two months, spending his weekends at his farm near Pawling. He added, however, that "I may have to travel some in the next month."

Opening Headquarters
Republican campaign headquarters will be opened Wednesday in the Roosevelt hotel in New York City, Dewey disclosed, adding that it was the "Theodore Roosevelt hotel."

Dewey said his weekends at Pawling would be devoted largely to study and to writing speeches. He had no plans, he said, to receive political visitors there.

The governor will work the Fourth of July in the mansion, with no visitors on his schedule. He will go to Pawling Friday, where a reception by the townspeople is planned that afternoon. Pawling has a population of about 1,200.

The nominee declined to comment in questions dealing with the possibility of eliminating foreign policy as a campaign issue and said he had not studied the effect of severance of relations by this government with Finland.

He turned aside a query as to reasons why Governor Warren declined to enter the contest for the vice presidential nomination before Bricker was chosen.

Of especial interest will be an aerial show consisting of a double glider tow, a formation of C-47 transports towing and releasing gliders, and the dropping of parachutes.

An exhibit of Troop Carrier Command equipment will include transportation gliders and transport planes open for inspection.

Speeches by Jerome B. McCauley, commanding officer of the base, and Major Lloyd L. Brown, base quartermaster, are scheduled events of the morning.

G. I. Program
The program presented entirely by G. I.'s will be introduced by selections by the Sedalia Army Air Field band directed by W. O. Thomas E. Wilson, S/Sgt. Albert Marshall, Negro entertainer; Jumpin' Jive Session by the Invasion Six, all professional musicians; selections on a musical saw and bicycle pump, Cpl. Harry Cassally; impressions by Pfc. Teddy Block, professional vaudeville entertainer; scat songs by Pvt. Jack Viegas who, before his army days, was with several name bands including Charlie Barnett's; and a finale by the entire band and cast.

The above-mentioned S/Sgt. Frank Brown, master of ceremonies, before entering the army, appeared regularly on his own program, Chatter Box, on the Mutual network. Originating in California, the program presented news and humorous anecdotes of Hollywood personalities.

When the war broke, Sgt. Brown was in London entertaining at the famous Kit Kat club, the club at which Beatrice Lillie is now being featured.

Sgt. Brown has been in the army 26 months, spending most of this time entertaining throughout the country for the U. S. government.

During an eight-month period, he performed in over 400 shows. On tour with the first Victory Cavalcade before entering service, he has since toured with many others, and accompanied Red Skelton and Jerry Colonna during their recent trip around the army camp circuit. He has acted as a "straight man" for many of the top-notch comedians of radio, including Eddie Cantor, Jack Pearl and George Jessel.

While in Miami Beach a short while ago, Brown went on a War Bond selling campaign and sold more than $15,000,000 worth of war bonds.

Jackie Coogan Has Date With Pin-up Girl

HOLLYWOOD, July 3.—(AP)—Even a veteran Hollywood actor can succumb to the pin-up craze.

Jackie Coogan, former film star and now a flight officer glider pilot with the American Air Commandos, fell for a glamour-plus pin-up picture of Actress Ramsay Ames while he was at an army base in India several months ago.

"How about a date when I get back to Hollywood?" he wrote her, Coogan arrived on a furlough a few days ago. Last week end he and the actress went dancing together.

City of Minsk Has Fallen to The Russians

Germans Unable To Break Strength Of Russian Drive

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—Minsk has been taken by storm, Moscow announced tonight.

An order of the day by Marshal Stalin said the troops of the First White Russian army captured the city of 240,000 by flanking maneuver and assault.

Minsk, one of the important Russian cities held by the Germans, fell almost to the day three years after the Germans had claimed its capture on July 1, 1941 in the initial stages of their invasion of the Soviet Union.

By Eddy Gilmore
MOSCOW, July 3.—(AP)—Soviet tanks and cavalry struck within 10 miles of Minsk today and another column carving deep beyond that city hammered within 65 miles of Wilno, which is only 100 miles from East Prussia.

Pounding at the front gates of Minsk, Red army men captured Sloboda, 12 1/2 miles to the northeast and then pushed within 10 miles of the White Russian capital.

But by-passing columns already were sweeping around the city on the northwest and southwest, cutting the Germans' escape railways to Wilno and to Brest-Litovsk.

The rush on the northwest posed a threat to Wilno, former Polish city just 15 miles from the old Lithuanian border. This drive captured Wilejka, 65 miles due east of Wilno, and 46 miles northwest of Minsk.

Nazis Reel Backward
The wall erected by the Nazis in front of the Baltic republics and Poland began to feel the pressure of the advancing Red army today as German forces reeled backward in White Russia in a retreat which Russian field dispatches described as a wholesale rout.

In almost every sector, the Russians said, German commanders appeared unable to break the on-rushing tide of Soviet tanks, cavalry and infantry advancing relentlessly under an air cover that grows daily in strength.

There were continued signs of indecision on the part of Nazi leaders as well as lack of contact between enemy divisions deployed along the front, front dispatches declared.

By no stretch of the imagination, one Soviet correspondent said, can the collapse of German resistance be called a "planned retreat" or even a systematic withdrawal.

American 1st Army Opens New Assault On LaHaye Du Puits

TODAY on the War Fronts

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—German troops were reported today to be pressing a large scale drive in southwestern France in an effort to smash underground resistance, described by one French collaborationist source as "a real civil war directed from abroad."

At the same time advices from Stockholm indicated the Germans were making desperate efforts to placate striking Danish patriots who had barricaded themselves in the streets of Copenhagen and threatened to fight to the death in protest against repressive measures.

A new and disturbing situation, meanwhile, was rising to plague the Germans at home where—according to dispatches from Madrid—some 50,000 foreign prisoners have escaped since the Allied invasion of France and are causing deep concern by their activities.

The Berlin radio, possibly fishing for information about Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., said today that German military circles expect "Patton's American army group" to open an offensive in the "near future."

Patton, formerly commander of the Seventh Army, has been in Britain but his exact status in the invasion has not been defined by Allied announcement.

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—From 500 to 750 flying fortresses and Liberators, including Eighth air force units which flew from England in a shuttle flight, bombed Nazi oil storages and refineries and transportation facilities in Romania, Hungary and Yugoslavia today.

The flying fortress, undamaged, bore German markings and appeared to have been patched together with parts of Allied planes that crashed in German territory.

ROME, July 3.—French troops and American artillery and tank forces occupied the medieval metropolis of Siena 31 miles below Florence today after more than a week of heavy fighting through tough German defenses.

The occupation touched off a wild demonstration by the population of 50,000 which cheered and applauded and paraded its famous silk flags for the first time in four years in a belated impromptu celebration of the ancient "Palio Delle Contrade."

The city, whose art treasures are rivalled only by those of Florence, was virtually untouched by war damage except for a few small bombs dropped in the last several nights and demolitions of public utilities carried out by the Germans.

Infantrymen Were Supported by Heavy Artillery Including Most Powerful Guns

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 3.—(AP)—The American First Army struck south along a 40-mile front on Cherbourg peninsula today, smashing forward up to 2 1/2 miles in the opening hours of a saving attack.

Supreme headquarters said the doughboy offensive opened at dawn this morning, along the front stretching across Cherbourg peninsula from St. Lo D'Ouville east to the Carentan area, and then south to St. Lo, road junction near the center of the Normandy front.

By Wes Gallagher

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, July 3.—(AP)—In a swift reversal down the Cherbourg peninsula, Lt. Gen. Omar H. Bradley's American First Army at dawn today opened a 10-mile wide attack toward the German stronghold of La Haye Du Puits.

Doughboys fought forward on mud-bogged fields under a heavy artillery barrage.

The assault jumped off near the west coast of the peninsula, from the line flung across it just two weeks ago that sealed off the upper half of the land neck.

A front dispatch said the drive pushed from the area below Barneville-sur-Mer on the coast east to St. Sauveur le Vicomte. The doughboy line dips below and between these towns to St. Lo D'Ouville.

The assault opened after local advances which Supreme Headquarters said had won favorable "jump-off" positions south of St. Lo D'Ouville. The doughboys all had pressed toward La Haye de Puits, six miles southeast of St. Lo D'Ouville.

The American infantrymen were supported by heavy artillery including some of the most powerful guns yet used in the French campaign, but rain and cloudy skies hampered Allied aerial aid.

British Hold Firm
Even as this assault thrust forward on the Allied right flank, other Americans maintained pressure against the big road town of St. Lo toward the center of the Normandy front and the British held firm southwest of Caen on the eastern flank. There were indications that Field Marshal Rommel was regrouping his forces there—numbering 11 divisions—after being beaten back in 25 thrusts against the British wedge across the Odon river.

The new offensive came after Lt. Gen. Omar H. Bradley, commanding the American First Army in Normandy, hailed the Cherbourg victory as "an indication to the enemy as to what he can expect from now on to the end."

German salients thrusting into American lines near St. Lo D'Ouville were wiped out and the Americans advanced short distances toward La Haye du Puits, rail and highway junction, seizing high ground which was described by Supreme Headquarters as probably "good jump-off spots" for an eventual attack toward the south.

West of Caumont Bradley lashed out with similar local attacks with the same object in mind. This sector is roughly 17 air miles southwest of the British Odon river bridgehead.

Activity dwindled in the Caen sector, where Field Marshal Erwin Rommel appeared to be regrouping his seven Panzer and four infantry divisions which had taken a terrific mauling in three days (Please Turn to Page 6, Col. 5)

WASHINGTON, July 3 — Two of the most important diplomatic reports of the war have been received at the White House recently, not from any trained diplomats, but from two private American citizens — Father Orlowski of Springfield, Mass., and Professor Oscar Lange, Polish-American leader and a teacher at the University of Chicago, both of whom had interviews with Stalin.

Although less widely publicized than Father Orlowski's interview, Professor Lange had a long separate talk with Marshal Stalin and, perhaps because he was not circumscribed by church superiors, stia, and he told Stalin that he was deeply moved by the splendid treatment given the Polish army by the Red army.

"I am sorry to hear that you are surprised," Stalin said. "The world must think harshly of us if they believe we mistreat those who fight with us, or any other people because of race, color or creed."

However, Professor Lange was not so complimentary in telling Stalin about the living conditions of the Polish population now living in Russia. He described the situation as deplorable.

Stalin admitted that this might be true, and also admitted the truth of Professor Lange's contention that, when these people returned to Poland, they would be bitter against Russia.

"However," Stalin pointed out, "they are being treated no worse than Soviet citizens in the same communities. This is an economic condition brought on by the war, not because we don't like the Poles."

Several days after Professor Lange made this complaint, he learned that Stalin had arranged with Wanda Wasilewska, head of the pro-Soviet Union of Polish patriots, to better the living conditions of Polish refugees in Russia.

Scores Polish Intelligence Service

Stalin was quite cynical about the Polish intelligence service inside Poland and the reports on alleged conditions it had made to Premier Mikolajczyk. All it did, he said, was deceive the Polish government-in-exile in London.

Foreign Commissar Molotov, who was present during the interview, interrupted at this point to say that, in a recent speech, Premier Mikolajczyk had claimed he had the support of 90 per cent of the Polish people.

"Why," laughed Stalin, "I don't even know if I have the support of 90 per cent of the Soviet people. How can he, sitting in London, say that he has the support of 90 per cent of the people of Poland?"

"Mikolajczyk," he concluded, "shouldn't believe the fairy tales his intelligence tells him."

(Editor's Note — A second and concluding column on the Stalin interviews, detailing some of the Russian premier's ideas on Germany and post-war collaboration, will appear tomorrow.)

LaMonte Defeats Windsor 7 to 5

The LaMonte Country baseball team defeated the Windsor ball club Sunday by a score of 7 to 5 in a most exciting and interesting baseball game.

Windsor took an early lead of one to 0 and in the LaMonte half of the third inning R. Taylor hit a beautiful three base hit which scored Schenk, Hatfield and Sparks. LaMonte from time to time added runs to bring their score to seven runs.

In the first of the eighth inning the visiting team took advantage of a let down by Pitcher Schenk and hurriedly accounted for three more runs when the Windsor players crossed home plate. The short-lived rally, however, was not enough to overcome the LaMonte lead.

Windsor played a good game and gave the LaMonte team a real workout. Outstanding plays were turned in by players on both teams, especially by Hatfield.

The win for LaMonte Sunday brought the three game series between the two aggregations a victory apiece. The third game will be played sometime in August.

Lineups for the two teams:
LaMonte: Schenk, p; Nutt, c; Hatfield, 1b; Gerken, 2b; C. Wheeler, ss; P. Kline, 3b; R. Taylor, rf; M. Kline, cf; and Sparks, lf.
Windsor: Green, p; Watson, c;

Browns Lose Doubleheader; Cards Win Two

Tex Hughson, Browns Nemesis, Leads Am. League Pitchers

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cecil (Tex) Hughson, towering Texan twirler of the Boston Red Sox, is travelling at a faster pace than he did in his record breaking year of 1942 when he won 22 and lost six to lead American league pitchers.

The six foot three right handed ace won his 12th victory of the season yesterday, more than any American league hurler, blanking the league leading St. Louis Browns with six hits to give the Red Sox a 1-0 triumph in the opener of a twin bill. The Red Sox also won the nightcap, 3-2, in 11 innings to climb to within a game and a half of first place. The double defeat was the Browns' 4th loss in six games since they started their eastern swing last Thursday.

Hughson, beaten only three times, has pitched 126 innings and has gone the route 12 times in 15 starts. His 62 strikeouts is a better average than his 113 whiffs which led the loop in '42. A sore arm hampered him last year when he won 12 and lost 15.

The St. Louis Cardinals, leaders in the National league, won two games from Brooklyn to extend the Dodgers' losing streak to six straight, their longest of the season. The Cards won the first 2-1 in 14 innings on Johnny Hopp's single with the bases full and took the second, 4-2.

The Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees divided their twin bill, the White Sox taking the first 7-3 by scoring four runs in the tenth. A wild throw by Catcher Vince Castino allowed Bud Metheny to scamper home with the winning run in the ninth of the finale for a 7-6 Yank victory.

Cleveland won two games from Washington, 4-3 in 10 innings, and 6-3.

Johnny Allen pitched a three-hitter for the first Giant shutout of the season 3-0, as New York and Cincinnati split. Rookie Castimir Konstanty won his third straight for the Reds in the opener 4-1.

Detroit and Philadelphia swapped shutouts. The Tigers, behind Dizzy Trout's eight-hit pitching, took the first 8-0 and the Athletics the nightcap, 2-0, behind Jesse Flores' four-hit twirling.

The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies got an even break in their two games, Chicago winning the first 8-1 and the Phillies taking the second 4-2.

Nate Andrews pitched the Boston Braves to a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh in the first game, but the second was halted by Pennsylvania's 6:50 curfew after eight innings, with the score tied at 5-5.

LaMonte Defeats Windsor 7 to 5

The LaMonte Country baseball team defeated the Windsor ball club Sunday by a score of 7 to 5 in a most exciting and interesting baseball game.

Windsor took an early lead of one to 0 and in the LaMonte half of the third inning R. Taylor hit a beautiful three base hit which scored Schenk, Hatfield and Sparks. LaMonte from time to time added runs to bring their score to seven runs.

In the first of the eighth inning the visiting team took advantage of a let down by Pitcher Schenk and hurriedly accounted for three more runs when the Windsor players crossed home plate. The short-lived rally, however, was not enough to overcome the LaMonte lead.

God's Front Porch
A Novel By KETTI FRINGS
Copyright, 1944, Ketti Frings—Distributed, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

To Those Who Came In Late:
This is the story of what happened to Pinky Harrison after he was killed in a foxhole. The scene is Heavenly Bend Junction, half-way point between the Earth and Big Valley. Travelers stay here until they stop looking back to Earth.

XIV
To the colored soldier, Jackson, all white people seemed to have long, doleful expressions, but this white boy, sitting on the steps up there, was just about the dolefullest-looking thing he'd seen in a long time.

"Hey . . . soldier!" Jackson called.

Pinky looked up, recognized the darky who had come to town, walking the tracks, the day before. "Oh, hello."

"What's the matter with you?" "Oh, I don't know," Pinky groaned.

Jackson leaned on the gatepost, and grinned. "Say, I know what fix you up!" He showed Pinky the white cardboard lunch box he was carrying. "You'd better get yourself a box like that, and come on out to the Picnic Grounds with me! No more troubles there . . . live in clover out there!"

"I'm not ready yet."

"No? How come?"

Pinky was about ready to make an irritable remark, but then he looked again at Jackson. No, you couldn't be irritable with a guy like that. Broad smile, with all that gleaming white showing.

Pinky sighed faintly. "I guess maybe you were never married."

"What's that got to do with it?" "Or had a child."

"Is that what's bluein' you up?" "That and my wife."

"What's the matter? She cheatin' on you?"

"Oh, no, don't say things like that."

"Well, I just thought . . . mine is!" Jackson beamed proudly. "Wearin' black, though—doin' me that credit. Sure makes a right good-lookin' widow, too. I ain't even buried yet and already she's steppin' around. Can you beat that?"

Pinky was puzzled. "How would she know yet what happened to you?"

"It happened while I was on furlough. Car."

"Oh."

"Glad she is like that. Saves me the trouble of hangin' around here."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, see, if she was sorrowin' I'd probably be sorrowin', too, and keep lookin' back. But the way it is . . . she shrugged contentedly. "Then if you're ready to go on, why don't you go?"

"Well, I'll tell you," Jackson reached into his pocket, drew out a roll of bills. "I got a tiny little bit of change in my pocket, see. And they tell me it won't do me no good out at the Picnic Grounds, see . . . everything free out there . . . so I thought before I'd go, I'd get rid of it." With an easy graceful gesture he tossed a pair of dice on the gravel. "See?"

Pinky smiled faintly: "Never heard of anyone playing to lose before."

"Well, if I win, I stick around a while . . . see?"

Pinky declined the invitation. "Besides, I don't have any money."

"What's the matter with this town? Ain't nobody got nothin'?" "Why don't you try the Square?" "Thanks, I will."

JACKSON never got to the Square. He was repocketing the dice and turning to leave as down the sidewalk came nine men. You could hear them almost a block away. They were marching in formation, their heavy boots sounding loudly. Those who had lived here for a long time had often heard the sound and knew what it was, but Emily, hearing it as she was just on her way downstairs, dashed out quickly.

They were all in German uniform, marching two abreast and led by a lieutenant. Emily and Pinky looked at each other, recognizing the officer as the one who had met Rion at the station. Emily peered deeper into the line. "There's Rion, too—look!"

"Step aside," the lieutenant ordered Jackson.

"Who says so?"

"Step aside, you black swine!"

Jackson paled and stepped back. All the smiling beauty seemed to have gone out of him, as he shrank back against the fence.

"Rion! Hello, Rion!" Emily called.

Eyes straight ahead, Rion moved on with the others. The sound reached its climax, then began dying away as the soldiers reached the corner, crossed over into the Square.

PINKY sat down on the steps again. Emily moved down to the fence, to the colored soldier. "You shouldn't have let him push you aside like that."

Jackson turned and looked at her. "Look, I got a tiny little bit of change here. Give it to the white boy over there, for his kid, start a bank account. I'm leavin', see. It won't be like that anyway out at the Big Valley." He handed the roll to her. "So long, lady. Goodbye, white boy."

De Lawd's shiny-black housekeeper, Rose, came hurrying down the street after him. "Jackson, I just found out," she wailed, "you took a picnic box!"

"Yes, ma'am, I'm goin'!"

"But, Jackson, you and De Lawd is just getting acquainted."

"I'll be seein' him. Tell him to look me up when he comes out there."

"Oh, Jackson." She stood still, sadly watching him go away from her.

"So long, Rose," he called.

Dewey Takes Orders From His Golf Pro
DANBURY, Conn., July 3.—(P)—George Ferrier, veteran golf pro at the Ridgewood country club here, smiled when he heard Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, declare in his acceptance speech that he takes orders from no man.

For six years Ferrier has been ordering the New York governor around on the golf course and says the pro, "the governor not only takes orders but apparently likes to do so. He's a great sport."

Dewey came to Ferrier as a beginner while he was district attorney in New York and tackled golf with the methodical precision of a good trial lawyer. His ambition, he told the pro, was to "break 100," a goal he has accomplished.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, July 3—(AP)—Major "Cac" Hubbard, former Denver university coach who became a member of the football rules committee just before he entered the army, believes that the committee shouldn't meet again until after the war, but he has some very definite ideas as to what should be done then. . . . Besides favoring forward passing from anywhere behind the scrimmage line and "restoring" the kickoff, Maj. Hubbard wants a lighter penalty on an inadvertent forward pass when a lateral is intended. He thinks five yards from where the pass is thrown would be enough. . . . Speaking from the Sioux Falls, S. D., army air field, Cac urges establishment of one set of rules for high school, college and pro football. "No one would ever think of having more than one set of rules in baseball," he maintains, "so why should kids have to learn to play by three different rule books if they follow football from high school to professional gridirons?"

Today's Guest Star
Bill Reddy, Syracuse, N. Y., Herald-Journal: "Ole Solem (Syracuse coach) will leave no stone unturned in an effort to come up with a stout team for that opener against Cornell. He wasn't available for comment last night, possibly being busy turning stones in the hope that he might find a halfback under a likely-looking boulder."

Monday Matinee
The Chattanooga Lookouts played doubleheaders at home before crowds of 428 and 650, but 14,000 turned out for a bond rally-ball game against the Camp Campbell team. . . . Matchmaker Lew Raymond and tub thumper Broadway Johnny Cox, who used to operate in New Orleans, have shifted their activities to Houston, Tex., and promise big-time fights once a month.
Service Dept.
Lieut. Roger Terwilliger, 1942 national decathlon champion, recently made the highest score in physical fitness tests ever recorded at Pampa, Texas, army air field. . . . T/5 Frank Stiedle, the Arkansas golfer who Texas fans say is the longest hitter in golf, plans to hit the pro circuit as soon as the war is over. At present he's at Camp Carson, Colo.

PIN-WORMS At Last—A Real Treatment!

You may not realize how many of your neighbors—grown-ups as well as children—have Pin-Worms at this very moment. People don't talk about this nasty infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting rectal itching; and up to now they have usually suffered in silence because they have not known of any effective way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives inside the human body.
Important Medical Discovery
Today, thanks to a valuable scientific discovery, a remarkable new treatment has been made possible. It is based on a special drug, known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W. The new Pin-Worm tablets developed by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines, P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special, gentle way to destroy Pin-Worms.
It is very easy to "catch" this nasty infection, and the ugly creatures can cause real distress. So watch for the signs that may mean Pin-Worms: itching seat, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fretting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a box of P-W right away and follow the simple directions carefully.
P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

War Prisoner Writes Home

O. D. Scrivner and family of Ottaville, Mo., formerly of Ottaville, have received the following letter written March 25, 1944, from his son, Lieut. Wayne Scrivner, who became a prisoner of war when his plane was shot down over Germany March 9:
"Dear Mother, Dad and Sister: This will be the longest letter I will be able to write as we will be limited to postal cards from now on. I am getting plenty to eat and have plenty of warm clothing—thanks to the Red Cross. We also have adequate medical care. All our crew is safe and we four officers are living together in one room. I never did get the peanuts I asked you to send, but maybe the boys that lived in our room will get to enjoy them. You should hear from the Red Cross before long as they will tell you what you can send me and how often you can write. Don't worry about anything as I am getting along fine and was not injured.
"My money will keep coming as it did before. Do with it as you see fit. Tell all my friends 'hello'. Give to the Red Cross. They are wonderful. Hope to see you all soon. Will write as often as possible.
Love to all,
Wayne."

The Scrivners received through the mail a few days ago a box of oatmeal cookies they had sent Wayne in England in February. They were not very hard and tasted pretty good.

Installation of Masonic Officers

Installation services, with Harry W. Ramseyer of Smithton acting as installing officer, were conducted by the Masonic lodge of Ottaville at the Friday evening meeting at Streit hall.
Officers are: Russel Wagenknecht, worshipful master; George DeHaven, senior warden; Jabe H. Potter, junior warden; K. P. Smith, senior deacon; J. H. Gunn, secretary; T. E. Wherley, treasurer; Herbert R. Kuhn, chaplain; H. Roger Starke, marshal; and W. O. Lewis, tyler.

In The Service

Mr. and Mrs. George Perriguy, route three Sedalia, received word their son, Corporal Earl Perriguy, has arrived overseas, somewhere in England.
Pfc. and Mrs. Charles N. Smith and son, Mickey of San Antonio, Texas arrived to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest May and other relatives of Smithton.

Sgt. Joe McEniry, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McEniry of Dal-Whi-Mo Court, who has recently been moved from Africa to Italy, writes interestingly of some of his experiences in that country. His letter to his parents reads in part: "As you will know by my V-mail I left my last station after eighteen months. Was amused when I left the adjutant ribbed me a bit about the plane ride, not knowing if I had ever been up in a plane. He asked me if I had anything to say before I left. I just said I hoped I wouldn't have eighteen months in my next stop. "The one village I have been able to visit is what I thought would be typical of Italy. The streets for the most part are narrow and the cobble stones are well worn with the ages. Buildings are built around a courtyard which to date I haven't been able to figure out. Don't know if they are a place to sit around or a place to deposit the garbage and general rubbish. Sewage systems are something they are waiting to see if they are successful in that foreign country of America (the U. S.) . . . "I can't help but recall something that Lin Yutang wrote, "One of the greatest things about the United States is the abundance of soap." . . .
"Have been trying to keep up with the St. Louis Browns. I sure would like to see them win the pennant."

AN EIGHTH AAF FIGHTER WING, England: Along with other members of his unit Sgt. Charles G. Gudorp of 236 South Missouri avenue, Sedalia, has earned the commendation of his commanding general for diligence and attention to duty during March and April. In the commendation, which was issued to the units of his fighter wing headquarters, Brig. Gen. Jesse Auton of Covington, Ky., pointed out the importance of every job including such routine duties as guard, clerk, and KP in the destruction of the enemy.
Sergeant Gudorp is assigned to the security section of this unit.
AN EIGHTH AAF FIGHTER STATION, England — Cpl. Rudolph T. Rouchka, son of Joseph Rouchka, 1600 East Broadway, Sedalia, was a busy man D-day.
Radio mechanic at this P-51 Mustang station, Cpl. Rouchka stuck to his job as Col. Donald W. Graham's pilots flew wave after wave, shift after shift, in support of the invading ground forces.
Teamwork here between the pilots and ground personnel was demonstrated when the high-scoring Mustang men destroyed 255½ German aircraft in less than four months, 228½ of those in the air.
An ex-cloth-cutter of the J. A. Lamy Manufacturing Co., Cpl. Rouchka enlisted in the AAF Oct. 28, 1942.

Activities on the Farm Front

Reported By Agriculture Extension Service

Annual Hazard Of Bindweed Problematical

Control Measures Advanced By The Extension Office

Bindweed infested areas should be handled so as to bring this pest under control. Small areas should be staked out and isolated from other cultivated areas in preparation for chemical treatment this fall. If the infested area is more than a few square rods in size it may be preferable to start clean cultivation immediately.

J. U. Morris, County Extension Agent, believes that this advice is sound in spite of labor and equipment shortages because of the persistence and spreading habits of the weed. If permitted to grow unhampered, this pest will spread rapidly in a cultivated field, and its presence in a field lowers its productivity and increases the cost of production.

Clean cultivation can be started any time after bindweed growth starts in the spring by a deep clean plowing, reworking every 10-24 days with a tool which will cut the bindweed plants off cleanly 3 to 4 inches underground. Duckfoot shovels on a corn cultivator with at least a three inch overlap will work. Clean cultivation

Next Week in the Kitchen

Only very plump raspberries should be frozen as others are too seedy. Red raspberries are preferred because they are more meaty than the black ones.

Pick at the peak of ripeness and handle carefully to avoid bruising. Discard poorly colored, immature, and seedy berries. Wash and drain. They may be packed in a medium sirup or packed dry using 1 part sugar to 3 or 4 parts berries. If packed in a sirup use chilled sirup.

Canning Raspberries
Raspberries may be canned by either the hot or the cold pack method. The berries will keep their shape better when cold packed, but jar space will be saved if they are not packed.

To cold pack, press the raw fruit gently into the containers so they will be well filled and cover with a boiling medium sirup. A medium sirup is made by boiling together 1 cup sugar to 2 cups of water. Process in a water bath or a steamer for 15 to 20 minutes. Berries which are cold packed have a tendency to rise to the top of the jar after processing.

To hot pack raw berries, add 1/2 cup sugar to each quart of berries. Stir gently, boil 2-4 minutes. Pack into hot sterilized containers. Process in a water bath for 10 minutes.

Blackberry Jelly
Choose one-fourth red berries and three-fourths black ones. The black berries are for flavor and the red ones will furnish the needed acid and pectin. Pick over, wash and crush the berries.

tion over two seasons will usually eradicate the pest.

Sodium Chlorate
Small or inaccessible areas should be treated with sodium chlorate at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds per square rod. This treatment is usually most effective when put on in late September or October. The only preparation suggested is staking out the areas and keeping down the high weeds and grass so the limits of the infested area are easy to establish and distribution of the chemical is easier.

Bulletins giving the details of these treatments are available at the County Extension Office. He can also advise where sodium chlorate may be secured. The War Production Board has allocated more material to Missouri farmers than was available last year. Actually more is available this year than has ever been used in any one year before.

Payment Provided
Under the 1944 Agricultural Conservation program, eradication of Canadian thistle and bindweed provides for payments of 10c per pound for chemical control and $10 an acre for clean cultivation. The payments must receive prior approval of the county committee and may be approved only on farms where effective weed control measures are being carried out on all adjacent infested farms and contiguous land, where infestation is limited to a single farm, or where the committee determines that there is no likelihood of reinfestation from adjacent or contiguous land.

Dauntless Gals Save, Devise

You may have heard, "War won't stop women from making pretty things." Two good examples of this were recently reported by 4-H club girls in Pettis County.

One was the case of Betty Jean Meyer, a member of the Ringing 4-H Workers south of Smithton. Betty Jean made a new suit, but she used an old lining for three reasons. She couldn't buy the right color in new material and besides the new wasn't so good as the old. Then too she was conserving material. Betty Jean also had a color problem in getting a zipper, so she demonstrated ingenuity by getting a white zipper and dyeing it the right color.

The second example of using material available is that of Ruby Lee Vajen, a member of the Bunker Hill Club in the far southeast corner of Pettis County. Ruby Lee couldn't buy pillow tubing, so she hunted out 2 good white sacks at home and went to work. The outcome will be an equally attractive pair of pillow cases although they are not quite

Reduction Of Erosion Loss

Farmers Adopt Terrace Systems; Lay Pond Sites

Farmers of Pettis County are planning ahead so as to reduce losses of soil through erosion by constructing terraces and planting crops on the contour even though there is a shortage of manpower on their farms. Not only are they looking into the future, but they fully realize the importance of these practices in producing crops this year from the standpoint of holding moisture and thus increasing yields.

More requests have been made this spring than in any similar period for the laying out of terrace lines, contour lines, and the locating of ponds, says J. U. Morris, county extension agent. Since early spring, contour lines have been staked on about 25 different farms on nearly 700 acres which has been planted to row crops and terrace lines have been staked on 16 different farms protecting nearly 300 acres.

Many Cooperate
Farms on which terrace lines have been staked and terraces have been, or will be made during the year include W. S. Starke, Morgan and Martin, Corson and Entler, Earl Neef, Henry Schlotzhauer, Herman Tegtmeyer, George Wilkerson, H. W. Cordes, C. S. Arnold, John Schannepp, and J. H. Bagby.

Those farms on which crops have been planted on the contour include Hoesa Kendall, Marion Moore, Mrs. Margaret Young, Ira Rayl, Everett Vannoy, Eldo Skouby, James Hunter Claude Rayl, Geo. Cummings, Herbert Schlomer, Hillview Farm, J. W. Bell, W. S. Starke, C. R. Lind, Hayman Higgins, Fred Harsch, Mrs. Harry Bouldin, Elmer Botts, Geo. Wilkerson, M. P. Lamey, Guy T. Yeater, Fred Brockman, and Lee Blackburn.

Pond sites have been located on the farms of Morgan and Martin, J. H. Bagby, Todd Cloney, H. H. Ream, Allen Kendrick, and W. R. Kendrick.

Many other farmers in the county are now preparing waterways so as to provide outlets for terraces to be built later. Good waterways are a fundamental prerequisite to a complete terrace system. Such waterways should be well established before water is turned into them.

Cookers Hold Food Flavors

The flavor of a food cooked in a pressure cooker is not the same as when that food is cooked in an oven or in an ordinary kettle with a lid. This is because the food is cooked at a high temperature by steam and without air, point out the nutrition extension specialists of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

If a number of foods are cooked in a pressure cooker at the same time, the odor and flavor of one does not affect the others unless some of the condensed moisture on the lid drops into the food. The moisture condenses on the inside of the cooker as the cooker cooks.

When cooking food in the pressure cooker, one to two inches of water should be placed in the bottom of the cooker, and the food placed in pans on the rack of the cooker. In preparing meat, stock, soups, stews, and in cooking large pieces of meat, dried vegetables or dried fruits, the food may be cooked directly on the bottom of the cooker. All the flavor from the food is kept in a cooker, so a little seasoning goes a long way.

Less water is used when cooking in a pressure cooker than in an open kettle, as little water is lost while the food is cooking. Potatoes, carrots, peets, and green beans require no water. When cooking cereals in the pressure cooker bring them to a boil in one of the inset pans or in another pan, and then set it on the rack in the cooker.

Use about one-third less water in the cereals when cooking them in the pressure cooker. Refresh all dried fruits or vegetables before starting to cook them in the pressure as this will reduce the time needed for cooking them. Puddings, brown bread and fruit cake may be steamed in small cans or cooked in other pans in the cooker. It is desirable to cook them for 15 minutes with the petcock open to give them a chance to rise, then close the petcock and finish cooking at from 5 to 10 pounds pressure. This prevents their being too moist or too heavy.

Enamel pressure canners, as the wartime models, should not be used for cooking.

Chair Covers Of Oil Cloth

Mrs. Herschel Walk, a Pettis County homemaker who has an eye for practical things, is enjoying her dining room furniture a lot more since she covered the chair seats with oil cloth which is easily cleaned after children drop bits of food on them, or after the harvest or hay men sit on the chairs with dirty clothes.

Previously, the chairs were covered with cloth upholstery, but Mrs. Walk found that they were easily unscrewed, the oil cloth neatly smoothed over them, and the seats put back in place. She said, "It took me about two hours. I merely sat down on the floor with my chair seats and oil cloth and went to work. It wasn't hard to do."

The amount of material required, of course, depends upon the size of chair, but for mine, the four seats could be covered with a yard of oil cloth. The first time I had used them after I had done this, I had several children here as guests. Then I really appreciated the practicality of the oil cloth covering."

Mrs. Walk has a red and white plaid oil cloth cover for her table as well as dollies for her buffet to match the chair seats. This is not only a practical way of protecting her dining room furniture, but it is quite inexpensive and attractive. Mrs. Walk is a member of the Van Natta Home Economics extension club.

Clothing Prices Going Higher

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(P)—The office of price administration promised today to inform consumers promptly how much more they can expect to pay for shirts, dresses, sheets, pillow cases, etc., under price advances authorized for cotton textile mills.

About one-third of all cotton fabric output will command higher prices at the mill, said OPA Administrator Chester Bowles. These include fabrics widely used for moderately priced house dresses, men's shirts and shorts, work clothes and knit cotton underwear. Bowles said he does not expect that "the net effect upon the cost of living would be substantial."

"Some of the new increases will undoubtedly have to be passed to the consumers," he said. "It is believed, however, that others can be absorbed in whole or in part at intermediate stages of production and distribution. Final decisions upon these questions will be announced promptly."
